This year marks the 10th annual Freedom Walk – a tradition to reflect on the lives lost on September 11th, renews our commitment to freedom and the values of our country and to honor our veterans, past and present.

The first Freedom Walk, held on September 11th, 2005 in our Nation's capitol, brought together more than 15,000 walker – including family members of the victims of September 11th, members of Congress, administration officials, federal workers, corporate employees, civic organizations, and citizens from around the country, including those who are serving and those who have served in the military. In 2006 communities in all fifty states and more than 130 cities hosted Freedom Walks.
